Quite a sensation has been caused in antiquarian circles at Quebec by the mysterious disappearance of the statue of General Wolfe, which stood at the corner of St. John and Palace streets. It will be remembered that this statue was removed once before by the middle of a warship and after peregrinations around the world it was returned to the mayor of the city undamaged but with a new coat of paint. This is therefore, the second time it has been taken. No one is able to offer an explanation and there is much speculation as to what has become of it. It being public property a search will be instituted by the authorities.

MAIL ROBBERY CASE.

Yesterday afternoon the adjourned preliminary hearing of the charge of robbing the mails, preferred against Jordan A. Beebe, came up for hearing at the police barracks, when the evidence of South Edmonton's two barbers was taken. So far seven witnesses have been examined for the prosecution, namely, Alex. Taylor, postmaster; D. Collins, the sender of a letter in which $25 was enclosed; Mr. Collins, who received the letter at Armstrong, B. C., minus the enclosure; Mrs. Bailey, at whose residence the accused was a boarder; Geo. A. Voyer, telegraph operator; Messrs. Richards and Withy, barbers of South Edmonton; M. Webb, from whom the accused purchased a railway ticket; and Jas. Ross, assistant postmaster.

The case of the prosecution, to judge by the evidence already adduced, rests on circumstantial evidence. It has been established that several sums of money disappeared from letters posted at Edmonton during the time of Beebe's employment in the office here; also that he was frequently alone in the office long enough to open and remove money from letters had been so inclined. And finally the most direct evidence produced, was when the prosecution established the fact that the money mailed by D. Collins was posted and registered about four o'clock in the afternoon; that after being registered the money was put into a box to which any clerk on the inside would have access; that from about six o'clock to half past six that evening Beebe was alone in the office, and that about 10 o'clock on the same evening he informed the postmaster that he had received a telegram saying his grandmother was sick, and he would have to leave for home in the morning. On the strength of this he borrowed some money and left for home in the morning. The evidence of Geo. A. Voyer went to prove that he had never received a telegram on the day mentioned.

At the sitting yesterday the case was adjourned until Saturday morning, when in all probability it will be again adjourned until Tuesday. The prosecution have yet to produce as witnesses two mail clerks and the postmaster at Armstrong, B. C.

The contentions of the defence, among others, are that there is no direct evidence to attach the crime on the accused; that the money may have been removed elsewhere than in the Edmonton office; that even if removed while in the Edmonton office, it may have been abstracted by a sneak thief who came in the back door, which is unlocked during the day, while the clerk's attention was attracted to the front of the office.

If the preliminary hearing is rushed through it is possible the matter will come before the judge at the present sitting of the supreme court, as all the outside witnesses will then be present, thus saving the trouble, delay and expense of bringing them here again.

To the Electors OF THE VICTORIA DISTRICT.

GENTLEMEN.—For the past four years I have been your representative in the Legislative Assembly, and now, at the request of a large number of the electors, I once more ask for your support in the coming election.

I do not for one moment suppose that I have pleased everybody, but at the same time I would ask that each and every elector will give due consideration to what I have tried to do, and have done, for the general benefit of the constituency and country at large.

In going about I find a continued demand for new roads and bridges, owing to the rapid increase of settlement. I also find that there is a necessity for wet lands to be sunk by the government where water is scarce. If decided, these matters will receive my earnest attention.

I find that there has been discontent all over the constituency about not leaving the expenditure of road and bridge money in the hands of the statute labor districts. This matter is now being remedied, and hereafter I will see that these matters will be expanded through the overseers of the different townships, and will continue to do so as long as the work is properly done.

At an early date I will call meetings and will discuss these and other important matters with the electors.

Yours obediently,
E. FRASER TINS.

INJENICA RIVER.

W. J. Kirkwood, a California miner, lately from New Denver, B. C., is in town, having returned from a prospecting trip to the Injenica river, 200 miles beyond Graham. Kirkwood, with four companions, W. C. Gibbs and J. Gibbs, of Golden, B. C., A. McKenzie, of Tesswater, Ont., and S. Dunham, of Edmonton, left Edmonton on April 26th, last for the upper Peace and beyond with two canoes, going by the Pembina, Athabasca and Slave rivers to Slave lake thence overland to the Crossing and tracking up the Peace.

In view of the misleading statements circulated by coast papers as to the disaster, death and general horrors suffered by parties who have gone by the Edmonton and other inland routes, Mr. Kirkwood was seen with a view to ascertaining the true condition of affairs among the parties en route. As to hardship and privation he stated that he saw none of it and he passed hundreds of men. All were in the best of health and spirits. A copy of the Seattle paper referred to in another column was shown to him and he plainly stated the reports of suffering and suicide referred to were untrue. Only one man had died and he died of perfectly natural causes. As to the plea of men putting all their money, and all the money they could borrow from their friends, into a grubstake and after they had eaten it up, committing suicide, vide Vancouver despatch to the Post-Intelligencer, a statement of the cost of Mr. Kirkwood's trip would be order. He and his four companions purchased two canoes, supplies for six months, and their outfit of mining tools, in Edmonton and the total cost per man was $90. Furthermore on turning back they sold their tools to the Hudson's Bay Co. for as much as they had paid for them in Edmonton.

Mr. Kirkwood's party left Edmonton on the 26th April and reached Peace River Crossing on the 28th of May. Reached Dunvegan on the 9th, and St. John on the 19th of June. Hudson's Hope was reached on the 4th July and a week spent on the portage. Mouth of Findlay river arrived at on 11th, Fort Graham on the 19th, mouth of Injenica on 22nd. Up that river the party prospected for 150 miles, reaching the forks on the 5th Aug. They prospected there until the 24th Aug, and then started back, reaching Edmonton on the 24th Sept. All the way up the Injenica, which is mentioned in the government reports as being promising, they found gold, but not in paying quantities. If the circumstances were the same as those in Edmonton, and food as cheap, a man could make good wages. Nothing less than $50 or $25 a day would pay in that country at present. Pearl Bennett, a member of another prospecting party, returned the same time as Mr. Kirkwood's party, but Bennett merely procured additional supplies and started right back again, taking horses.

LESSER SLAVE LAKE.

(Special correspondence.)

From the Landing to Lesser Slave lake post by water: We left the Landing on the 2nd of September with a flat boat and six trackers, going up the Athabasca as far as the Lesser Slave lake river, a distance of 75 miles. The river was at a very low stage and in consequence we had much difficulty in getting enough water to float our boat in some places where shoals and riffles occur. The country to the north and south of the river is well timbered with white and black poplar, spruce and some pine. The spruce is abundant and will average from 12 to 18 inches through. At the junction of the Lesser Slave and Athabasca rivers, the H. B. Co. have a warehouse. With the exception of a trapper's shack here and there, it is the only structure on the river up to here. The Lesser Slave river is narrow, as rivers go in this north country. It will hardly average 75 yards wide in its whole length, some 40 odd miles. For the first half, rapids to the number of three dozen occur, not of any great length nor very wide, but shallow and the current somewhat stiff. "All hands and the cook" get down to business here. You can take your choice. Get into the water and take a firm hold on the side of the boat and do the Sandow act, or else go ashore, put your head and shoulders through a tracking collar, let your mind wander back to a tow path in the east, with its mangy mule and swearing bargemen, dig your toes well in, and emulate the mule. This kind of thing continues for 30 miles and it takes from two to four days to drag and lift a boat that distance. This work is especially adapted for "Chollie Racquet" and "Willie Golf" to taper off on after their exertions during the early summer months.

The last half of this river is entirely free from rapids, but very crooked, forming as many as twenty points in one mile. The water is placid and will average from two to four feet in depth and its snake-like course takes you through a country where vegetation is luxuriant for miles and miles on either bank. As far as the eye can reach the country is perfectly flat and the hay would make an Alberta rancher green with envy. There are thirteen head of stock on the eastern end of the lake, owned by a breed trader. He puts up a stack or two of hay to winter them on. They are the only cattle in this part of the country. They were in splendid condition and do well during the winter. There are also eight or ten shacks scattered around the east end of the lake and occupied by breeders whose occupation in the summer is to bask in the sun and eat fish. In the winter they move back and trap. At the west end of the lake and at the crossing of the narrows quite a settlement has sprung up. There is a store, numerous warehouses and any number of private houses are being built. This settlement is tributary to a vast fur and hay country. As yet little advantage is being taken of the hay although next summer will see a large number of cattle in here. Quite a number of hay prospectors have visited this district this summer and are coming in next year with their cattle. One of them did not believe in waiting till next summer, but leaves here to-morrow for the Edmonton district and will return immediately with a bunch of something like 100 head of cattle and horses. In all 3,500 tons of hay have been put up by the H. B. Co., Roman Catholic mission and a few natives. There is at this writing thousands of tons within sight of the bay here.

Vegetables of every description have been grown this year and yield enormously to the acre. Potatoes run 300 and 400 bushels per acre.

Twenty thousand fish, white and trout, are taken from the lake annually. This news should be more than welcome to the born tired and weary. If they do not object to work altogether I can assure them that one month's easy work will keep them a year; to my mind about as easy as finding money.

A few disconsolate prospectors are coming in from the crossing, having gone no farther than St. John, some not that far. A great many of them have not discolored their shovels. Of all that have passed, but a small percentage look the miner, and certainly they do not look like rustlers. Gold does not exist for that class in any country. Prospects of a paying quality have so far not been discovered east of this range, nor will they ever be discovered on the eastern slope. There are a large number of placer miners from the Western States on the other side of the range and, to a man, they will stick it out. Very good prospects have been found on creeks tributary to the Findlay, and good skimming on bars on the Findlay. Burbank, the trader at St. John, sold out for spot cash to some men from up the Findlay, who had gone in there from Ashcroft two years ago. The prediction out here is that a steamboat on the upper and lower Peace, with provisions at something like a reasonable price at any point on the upper Peace or Findlay, would do a good business. That good cheap diggings exist on a large number of streams west of the range and tributary to the Peace, no one who is at all familiar with the true situation up there will dispute. The trouble is now and will always remain until a transportation company takes it in hand, how to get provisions in at something like common sense prices.

W. G. Ibbotson, of Ross Bros., came over from the crossing to meet some freight and will return on Monday. He reports everything wearing a rosy hue out on the Peace.

Dr. Nicholls and Mr. Altman passed through here yesterday, seven days out from Edmonton. They are heading for Fort Graham and expect to get there in 20 days. It is just possible they will for their horses are in good shape. The doctor is familiar with the trail, having been over it twice this year, and is one of those men who swear by that district. They are travelling light, just enough grub to take them through.

Fletcher Bredin is having built a large store and will open out a general trading outfit when the building is completed.

LACOMBE.

The exhibition on the 7th and 8th proved to be very successful both as to exhibits and attendance. Several visitors were present from Calgary, Red Deer and Wetaskiwin besides the surrounding country. The weather was all that could be desired and the officials made everything as attractive as possible. The new hall is just what is needed and as the society has purchased quite large grounds there is ample room for a good display of live stock. The vegetables as usual were typical of Alberta, prodigious in size and quite a sight to an eastern native. The only three small exhibits along this line were cucumbers, tomatoes and corn. A fine display of oil paintings, crayonings, etc., also ladies fancy work was shown. Mrs. Switzer and Mrs. Talbot won the prize in butter which certainly was of an excellent quality. A good assortment of horses, and thoroughbred cattle were shown, but the precedence was taken by Messrs. Talbot, Ruddick and Gregors. A calf belonging to P. Talbot, thoroughbred shorthorn, has been sold for $125. A fine number of horses of all descriptions were on exhibit and it was very difficult for the judges to make a decision. The usual sports were not forgotten. J. Nichol, of Lacombe, and Jerry Boyce, of Wetaskiwin, carried off the honors in the horse racing. There was besides the usual foot and sack races, vaulting, etc., when the youthful portion came in for their share. A number of fine prizes were given testifying to the liberality of the people and the prosperity of Alberta.

Arthur Thompson, a young Englishman and a former resident, has purchased the Reavy cottage and will make his abode in Lacombe.

Rev. Naismith, of Innisfail, made a business trip here last week along the line of church matters.

Mr. Walsh and family of Nebraska, arrived a few days ago with a car load of effects, and located.

Mrs. Grant of Vancouver, is visiting friends here.

Mrs. G. H. Wilson and daughter, of Ottawa, have returned home after spending the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, of England, are staying at the hotel.

Mr. Roberts is the owner of a horse ranch in the Red Deer river and expects to take up his residence here in the near future.

Morris and Taylor, of the hardware, have ordered a furnace for the hotel, which is the first one which has been brought to Lacombe, but no doubt before long they will be universally adopted.

P. Switzer, one of our leading farmers, has just finished threshing and finds that he has 2,560 bushels of grain. His oats yielded 78 bushels to the acre and the wheat 36 bushels to the acre. Mr. Switzer uses the seed drill which is found to be far more effective than broadcast sowing.

Miss Murphy, of Olds, the primary department, has been quite ill with diphtheria, but she is now improving very rapidly.

The C. P. R. carpenters have made another visit to our town and made some necessary improvements in the station house and built an addition to the platform.

A young son arrived at the home of E. Barnett on the 1st. Oct. 9, '98.

COAL OIL PROSPECTS.

An exchange says that on the strength of the report of the geological survey and of later rumors, certain parties said to represent large financial interests in England, have been treating with the Dominion government with a view to acquiring extensive concessions within what is believed to be the oil field of the Northwest—that is on the Athabasca, about the mouth of the Pelican river, and at Victoria on the Saskatchewan. As a result of their applications to the minister of the interior, an order-in-council has been passed under which authority can be given to an applicant to prospect on a selected section of 640 acres for a period of six months, at the end of which period the prospector shall have the right to buy the land at $1 per acre, with the added condition, however, that he must pay a royalty of 2½ per cent upon the sales of the petroleum produced.

POMONA.

The plebiscite election passed off quietly. We won by a majority of 9 for prohibition. There were 22 good votes cast. One pleasing incident of the day was the prohibition dinner, "free to all-comers," which was prepared and served by the good ladies of the vicinity. The dinner which was excellent, was well patronized.

Our school is prospering under Mr. Youmans' management. They have moved into the new school house and have an average of about twenty-two.

ANGUS RIDGE.

Mrs. D. McEachern, who was seriously ill last week, is regaining her usual health. Miss May Nelles fell from the top of the stairs to the lower floor last week. She received a slight bruise on the side of her face.

Farmers in this district are busy harvesting this week. The weather is all that could be desired. Very few from this neighborhood voted on the plebiscite last Thursday. All appeared to be busy at home. We had frost here the last three or four nights.

Mr. and Mrs. Thirk will return to Alberta next spring. Trustee McKay is erecting a granary. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Whitford were the guests of Mrs. Whitford this week. Mr. and Mrs. McCanister, Whiting lake, have been visiting Mrs. Laroque. Sept. 30, '98.

IN IT FOR KEEPS.

EDITOR BULLETIN.

SIR: Malicious statements having been made to the effect that I have retired from the electoral contest for St. Albert district, I beg distinctly to state that such is not the case. I am glad to be able to say, however, that the only argument my non-supporters could use against me so far is that I would not see the election through.

Now I wish it to be distinctly understood that since I allowed my name to go before the electors of St. Albert district as a candidate, I have never given anyone reason to believe that I was not in the field to stay.

I trust after this that my friends will listen to no such statements made against me, but will continue the work they have so well begun on my behalf. Thanking you for the space kindly granted,

I am sir
Your obedient servant,
G. W. GARDNER,
St. Albert, 10th October, 1898.

SUPREME COURT.

Court opened on Tuesday morning, Mr. Justice Rouleau presiding. As yet only criminal cases have come up for hearing.
On Tuesday morning the Queen vs. Pachel, charged with stealing logs from D. R. Fraser, was heard. The prisoner was released on suspended sentence.

Queen vs. Roughsedge, a perjury case in connection with black sand and gold washing operations on the river here, was the next charge on the docket. The case was adjourned to come up later.

Queen vs. Reid, indecent assault, was set for to-morrow morning.

Queen vs. Henry, charged with the theft of a pocket book and with threatening to shoot the informant, came up yesterday morning. The hearing of this case disclosed a peculiar piece of Belgian law. The prisoner, who is a native of that country, was a convict, but, before his term expired, was released from the prison and placed in the custody of one Leon Vanden Houten, the informant. Vanden Houten occupied the dual position of proprietor and guardian of the ex-convict, with the power, whenever his charge was unsatisfactory, of returning him to Belgium and to prison. On the case coming up Vanden Houten expressed his desire of relieving himself of the further care of the prisoner, who will therefore be returned to Belgium. He was released on his own recognizance, on suspended sentence, it being understood that he leave the country at once.

Queen vs. Plante, theft, came up this morning.

..OUR FALL OPENING..

Was a grand success, and we had a full house. The people came, they saw, and they were captivated. It was a genuine surprise to everyone to see the magnificent range of goods that were shown for the Fall and Winter trade. Every department was full to overflowing and each seemed to offer special inducement to buyers.

The stock of Dress Goods shown is very large and much superior to the ordinary, and the lady would be very hard indeed to please that could not find something to suit, and something new, as among the better lines no two dress pieces alike. Trimmings of all kinds to match.

The Mantle Cloths also commended themselves to our many visitors.

The large display of Ladies' Felt Hats, Tam O'Shanter, Fancy Wool Hoods, Clouds, Scarf Ties, Eiderdown Cloth and Fur Jackets, Underskirts, Wrappers, Dressing Jackets Gowns and Underwear. Fall Blouses and Shirt Waists in Flannelette, Cashmere and Silk. Muffs, Neckruffs, Corsets, Veilings, Ribbons, Gloves, Hosiery and the hundred and one other articles and nick-nacks that go to beautify the home and adorn the person; all those and much more won the admiration of the throng of visitors, and, as was remarked by many, reminded one more of Simpson's or Eaton's than Edmonton. But Edmonton is forging ahead, and we are leading.

The Men's Department is equally as interesting as the ladies', and the stock is large and new.

We secure the very best of values for our customers and they at all times get the benefit. The larger the business the cheaper the prices.

Give us a call. It will save you dollars and cents buying from us.

THE ASHCROFT TRAIL.

The Victoria Colonist says: "There seems to be no doubt that a number of unfortunate people, who started from Ashcroft for the Klondike, are yet upon the road and in an extremely deplorable condition. Under these circumstances, it is the duty of both the provincial and federal governments to send out a relief expedition without delay." In response to this appeal the B. C. government has given authority to the H. B. Co. and other traders and owners of transportation to render assistance where it is absolutely necessary.

GINSENG AND SENECA.

Minneapolis Tribune: Ginseng has advanced steadily for some time, and it may be a good time to realize. Seneca root has also been advancing for some time and the tendency is upward. With a pleasant fall season can be dug up to the time the ground freezes. It looks as though the market could absorb a great deal more than can be dug. Those interested should advise to secure all they can.

BUFFALO JONES.

A Seattle despatch says: Buffalo Jones, the well known hunter who has been in the Arctic circle for some time, has arrived here from St. Michaels, having accomplished a journey full of peril. Jones left Oklahoma territory seventeen months ago for Great Slave lake and the mouth of the Mackenzie river, with the object of bringing out to civilization a herd of live musk oxen. He went in over the Edmonton route, reaching Great Slave lake last July, after a long and perilous trip. Two months ago in company with Albert Hea of Alberta, he started on his homeward journey, coming up the Peel and Rat river, down the West Rat and Porcupine to the Yukon. He was thirty-three days from Great Slave lake to Fort Yukon. Jones says there are 2,000 people who started over the Edmonton route in the summer of 1897 frozen in at Destruction City, located at the junction of the Peel and Rat rivers. They will not reach civilization before next July. They are well supplied with provisions. The winter will be spent in constructing boats. Among those at Destruction City are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Craig and a Mr. Thumser, all of Chicago. Accounting for his failure to bring out any musk oxen, Jones said he killed several, but the Esquimaux are superstitious about allowing them to leave the country, and one night they cut their throats. Jones brought out a large amount of letters from Destruction City.
